Pharaoh Is Bert Heron's Fifth Drama

The production of Pharaoh in the last week of this month is a major event in the long history of the Forest Theater. The most ambitious work of the founder of the beautiful theater in the pine woods, this will be the fifth play by Herbert Heron to be staged in Carmel, all but one in the theater to which he has devoted much of his life.

Montezuma was given a magnificent production in the Forest Theater in 1914. This was the year before the Pine Cone was established, but the critic of the San Jose Mercury-Herald wrote: "Montezuma is written in smooth flowing English which is a perfect vehicle for the lofty spirit of the drama. On a stage set in barbaric simplicity the story of the conquest of Mexico was enacted before the great audience seated in the hillside amphitheater under the moon of a perfect August night. Music, lights, costumes, dances, the flash of jewels and the wave of feathers and scarfs gave the scene a gorgeousness seldom seen, and the entire cast was tuned up to a splendid effort to make this the most successful performance given in the Forest Theater."

In the cast were many of Carmel's notables: Frederick R. Becholdt, novelist of the West, the botanist Francis E. Lloyd, D. L. James, Alice MacDougal, the poet Ethel Turner, James Hopper, Professor David Gray of Stanford.

The production of Immortal Fame, a comedy of Carmel artists, was Heron's next. Given in one of the indoor theaters, it was the hit of the season. According to the Pine Cone, "heartily and spontaneous applause throughout was evidence of its success. The easy colloquial dialogue, the brilliant flashes of wit, the delightfully funny situations and the charming and delicate love-motive surprised many to whom the author is known only as a writer in the heavier field of tragedy."

Tusitala, a Masque of Robert Louis Stevenson, written in collaboration with John Northern Hilliard, was produced in the Forest Theater. Said the Pine Cone: "This tribute is given with high regard and satisfaction with a work wonderfully done, a work of joy and reverence."

In 1931 came Love-Liars, a romantic comedy of the days of the Young Pretender, written in collaboration with the novelist and historian Constance Lindsay Skinner. In reviewing this for the Pine Cone, Herbert Cerwin wrote: "Almost the quality of a Shakespearean production, done in a modern way. Few other plays could have brought the Forest Theater season to such a fine climax."

Since then no play of Heron's has been locally staged, though his adaptation of The Man Who Married a Dumb Wife and many of his arrangements of Shakespeare for the Forest Theater have been performed. The Merchant of Venice, with George Marion as Shylock; Macbeth, the cast of which included Flavia Flavin and Steve Cochran; and particularly the swift, streamlined versions of

Dr. Slavutych Opens Rich New Literature To American Readers

By RAYLYN PENNEY

To the long and uneasy history of tyranny versus art, the Ukrainians have contributed a substantial chapter.

"Modern Ukrainian literature, oppressed though it is, is a more important contribution from the Slavic world than that of contemporary Russia."

This is an opinion of Dr. Yaroslav Slavutych, a specialist in Slavic studies, who voluntarily and unofficially has taken on the job of acquainting the reading west with the work of his writing countrymen.

"Our literature is rich in feeling and imaginary," he says. "It champions personal liberty, understandably enough, and presents a patriotic motif."

"In poetry we favor rhyme and formal meter, although this is not a rule, and our taste in Anglo-Saxon letters runs to the classic. Lord Byron, for instance, is a favorite in Ukraine."

Dr. Slavutych, who speaks Ukrainian, Polish and Russian and has a good reading acquaintance with all the other Slavic tongues, says Russia has two (Sholokov and Pasternak) good writers at work today, neither of whom can begin to compare, however, with the great Pushkin-Gogol-Dostoyevsky-Tolstoy tradition.

Ukraine's greatest writers, past and present, include Taras Shevchenko, Ivan Franko, Lesya Ukrainka and the poet Sosyura, who is still living in Ukraine. All are available in English translation.

Yaroslav Slavutych has himself served his country's literary cause as a translator. He made the first Ukrainian translations of Keats and has translated Archibald MacLeish, T. S. Eliot, Robert Frost and Shelley, as well as Byron.

Already a poet of note among Ukrainians, Slavutych has recently tried writing in English. Oasis, a collection of his verse translated first by the author and then shaped and polished by an American friend, A. Morse Manly, formerly also of the Peninsula, is one of three books of his published this year.

The others are Ivan Franko and

County Budget Hearing Monday In Monterey

Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock the County Board of Supervisors will hold a public hearing on the $14 million plus preliminary county budget for 1959-60. A six to eight cents on the $100 valuation increase in tax rate is involved. This year's tax was $1.70.

The hearing will be held in the Monterey City Council Chambers. Another hearing will be held in King City, in addition to the required hearing in Salinas. This is the first time the supervisors have held budget hearings elsewhere than the county courthouse in Salinas.

Wermuth's Repeater Is Found Guilty Of Grand Theft

The charm of Carmel is many things to many people. To Donald Lawrence, who has already spent 28 years of his life in prison, four of them for robbing a Carmel jewelry store, it will probably mean more "time." A jury convicted him of grand theft in Salinas yesterday, for stealing two sweaters on June 9 from Howard Brunn's Store in the Carmel Pine Inn Court.

Superior Judge Stanley Lawson will sentence him at a later date.

Mr. Lawrence shouldn't have come back, because Carmel Police Sergeant Earl Wermuth has a good memory for faces. When Sergeant Wermuth saw Lawrence fooling around the Pine Inn shops June 9, late at night, he rec-

Travelling From Mine To Mine, Carrying Bottles Of Whiskey, James Jones Won His Election

By J. WILLIAM MAC LENNAN

The Supreme Court of California will be in session in Colton Hall in Monterey on September 1-2 in celebration of the 110th anniversary of the constitutional convention held there in 1849.

That convention was summoned because of the disturbances that arose following the American occupation of California. A great number of American frontiersmen, as a rule a lawless group, had crossed the mountains into California; some of them looked upon California as "The Promised Land," settled wherever they wished, and were ready to drive out "The Hittites" as they called the Mexicans and Spaniards, if they opposed them. Then, when gold was discovered, a deluge of humanity poured into the conquered country, a deluge to control which there was insufficient governmental authority; for a large percentage of the American forces, whose pay was $7.00 a month, had gone off to the gold fields for better pickings. Some of these, tiring of digging for gold, were finding it easier and more profitable to waylay miners on their way to San Francisco to "blow in" some of their earnings; others held up the rancheros returning home after selling cattle in the gold fields. Bands of men on their way to the mines were living off the country, helping themselves to cattle and horses and whatever else they could lay hands upon. And, again, the native California men were threatening to revolt, stirred by the fact that the senoritas were paying too much attention to the American soldiers and marines.

GET OFF A TELEGRAM TONIGHT

The Wilderness Bill will be heard in committee tomorrow. In the past few years, several of our too few Wilderness Areas have had their boundaries constricted to allow lumbering activities in their virgin forests. The Three Sisters Wilderness in Oregon was pared down a third in size.

The Wilderness Bill would require an act of Congress to change Wilderness boundaries. All of the conservation organizations, including the Sierra Club, are fighting for this bill. The powerful lobbies of the lumber, oil, and cattle industry are fighting it; also the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Senator Thomas H. Kuchel (R), Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C., senator from our district is a member of the committee. Send a night letter or telegram in support of the Wilderness Bill. What you do now may save a few trees for your grandchildren.

Library Circulated 162,156 Books From June To June 58-59

Following is the report of the operation of the Harrison Memorial Library for 1957-58, submitted to the city council by Mrs. Ruth Thornburg, librarian.

CIRCULATION

Once again the circulation figure for this year is an all time high. We circulated 162,156 books and periodicals during the year. This gives a per-registered-borrower circulation of almost 47 books per borrower. It is of interest also to note here that circulation in the last five years has gone up almost 62%.

FINES

In an effort to speed up the return of books and the subsequent loaning of them to other patrons, the library doubled its fine rate, increasing it from two cents per day to four cents per day. The projected increase was announced a month in advance and several hundred books then overdue were returned. The announcement was printed on small slips which were used as book marks.

INTERLIBRARY LOAN SERVICE

During the past year this library borrowed from the California State Library and from other libraries 170 books and now has outstanding

GILROY CLIPS SAN CARLOS REALTY IN LITTLE LEAGUE SEMI-FINALS

A big second inning which produced five runs powered the Gilroy Lions to a 5-3 win over Carmel's San Carlos Realty in the semi-finals of the District Nine Little League Tournament at the Carmel Little League Park last Saturday afternoon. The visiting Lions didn't come close to scoring in any other inning of the interesting game as Jeff Zils and Bobby Moffatt combined to throw a five-hitter at the Gilroy lads. Ralph Chavez, a stocky hard-throwing righthander, pitched the crucial win for the Gilroy club and assured his mates of a try at the District Nine championship. San Carlos pecked away for five hits off the deliveries of Chavez but couldn't put them together for a sustained offense.

In the big second inning, Zils doled out three walks, three consecutive singles, and a wild pitch to give the visitors the winning margin. Gilroy picked up solo singles in the first and fourth innings but the rallies were short-lived.

San Carlos went down in one-two-three order until the fourth inning when Mike Faber singled to give the local Little Leaguers a life. However, Mike was rubbed out by a perfect throw by catcher Gary Fortellan as he attempted to pilfer second base. In the fifth heat, San Carlos got a solo marker when Jeff Zils doubled against the left field fence and was driven home by Matt Little's single. The Carmel gang had a good rally going in the final inning as they scored two runs on Cunningham's single and Mike Faber's well-hit homer over the centerfield fence. However, pitcher Chavez tightened his belt and threw strikes past Zils and Bucquet to stamp out the Carmel threat. Larry Little, San Carlos second-baseman, turned in the fielding gem of the day as he roamed far to his left to gobble up a tough grounder and throw out Lion Edkard at the plate.

In Saturday's second game, the King City Optimists relegated the Salinas Lions team to the consolation bracket by blanking them, 9 to 0, on a brilliant two-hitter by pitcher Mocklin. King City put on a very convincing offense by scoring in every inning except the first, racking up three markers in the second heat and coming back to tally four times in the fourth inning. Mocklin struck out the side in four of the six innings, doling out a single in the fourth inning and a double in the sixth.

District Nine finals are slated for the Carmel Little League Park next Saturday afternoon, August 15, with King City Optimists playing the Gilroy Lions in the featured 5:00 o'clock game and the Carmel San Carlos Realty meeting Salinas Lions in the 3:00 o'clock consolation tilt. Immediately following the 5:00 o'clock game, there will be a testimonial dinner at the Carmel American Legion Hall for players, officials, and Little League fans. The dinner is being prepared by the Carmel Little League mothers and promises to be a fitting climax to a very successful program which makes players, sponsors, and officials walk a little taller.

Pharaoh Is Heron's Fifth Forest Drama

Twelfth Night and Julius Caesar. Heron considers Pharaoh his most important work. It is the story of a writer who is approaching middle age without being able to change the world by his effusions, and is about to marry the daughter of a rich steel magnate in whose party he is touring Egypt, when suddenly a woman comes into his life who changes his whole outlook; but unhappily he loses both her and the magnate's daughter. Broken in spirit and utterly disconsolate he goes to sleep by the ruins of an ancient statue. This ends the prologue. The play then drops back four thousand years, and with glory and power he finds life actively instead of negatively difficult. But in the end he gets what he wants, though it wasn't what he set out to get.

A rich and colorful production is being built by the brilliant young director Dave Kirk, assisted by Robin Roberts. Jack James is the stage manager, Roland Scheffler has charge of the elaborate lighting, Ora Fallis is designing and fabricating the costumes, Mausta Jennings controls the fine music, Chuck Stohr is head of the construction crew, with a group of enthusiastic young people helping with hammers and paint brushes. The Monterey County Civic Ballet will handle the lush Egyptian dances.

The cast includes Ronald Bostwick as Rameses, the king's traitorous general; Nancy Woollever as Korda, the princess of Chaldea; Kenneth Barrette as Pilek; Russell Eddy as the old Speakeasy; James Carter, as captain of archers; Grace Carol Bostwick as Haraqah, the queen of Zoan; Duncan and Gregory Stitt as the two fleeing soldiers; Eleanor White as Lady Vandal; Nelq Drizari as the German Egyptologist and Kathy Keenan, David Armanasco, Dathel Demaria, Susie Turner, Kathy Testa and three small parts not yet settled. In the present day prologue Herbert Heron plays Norman

Music On The Peninsula

BY MARY LINDSAY-OLIVER

A rare recital of Chinese Music was given by Professor Ho Mingchung of the Army Language School in Fellowship Hall of the Wayfarer Church last Thursday. It was probably the first of its kind ever heard in Carmel. Years ago on my first trip West I went two consecutive days to a Chinatown Theater in San Francisco to hear a Chinese Music Drama that never ended! The orchestra of a few instruments played on the stage close to the actors and the constant repetition of melodic phrases with only slight change in the singsong rhythms, characteristic of all Chinese music, was never forgotten. But a concert recital of solo performance on ancient instruments provided a more comprehensive experience that included music of different ages and localities, as given by Ho Ming-chung, some of which reminded me of Scotch tunes. However, since both have their origin in the pentatonic scale of five notes this was hardly a surprise, and these scales are fundamentally synonymous with those of the Ancient Greeks. The Zither which gave the most opportunity for an artistic variety of manipulation had a charming tone quality. Three different kinds of flutes, Verticle, Horizontal and an Eleven Hole Flute were all capable of clear, appealing sounds, as was the Dulcimer. A little Ocarina, announced as over 500 years old, was also played with skill by the professor and he included a composition of his own entitled In Memory of My Parents. The Chinese have always considered music as "the harmony between heaven and earth," and in playing it there is a detached attitude devoid of personal emotional expression in the sense of it in Western music, coupled with a serious contemplation that bespeaks selfless devotion to perfection of detail; and while Western music is performed today by foremost Chinese musicians it cannot reflect their interesting national mood as found in their own hereditary compositions. The Recital was thoroughly enjoyed by a good sized representative audience who appreciated the opportunity of hearing this music and being able to examine the old instruments at the end.

Manager Skinner reports that six weeks of San Francisco Opera for Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday nights will begin with Aida on September 11, with Leontyne Price, Irene Dalis, Jon Vickers, George London and Giorgio Tossi in the opening cast. Also that the single seat sale opens Monday, August 17 at the Opera House, Sherman Clay, and other Bay agencies.

At Nepenthe, the San Francisco Chamber Players will give two more concerts there on Saturday, August 29 at 4:00 and 8:00 o'clock.

Dr. Slavutych Opens Rich New Literature To American Readers

Russia, published in Canada, and Volume One of his Conversational Ukrainian, a text authorized for use in Alberta schools.

He has, in fact, just returned to his Monterey home from Winnipeg where he was called in June to receive a recognition diploma from the Ukrainian Free Academy of Science in acknowledgement of his past literary achievements as well as his work on the new text book.

Among other books of his poetry have been The Singing Ears of Wheat, The Echo of Ages, The Crusaders for Truth, Thirst, and a survey, Modern Ukrainian Poetry 1900-1950. Because most of the Ukrainian books expressing "the idea of Ukraine's independence had been burned by the Communists, he unearthed many of the selections for the latter in the New York Public Library.

In his first English-language publication, The Muse in Prison, he compiled with great difficulty a list of the names of some 200 Ukrainian poets, writers and critics interned, tortured and executed by the Communists in the 1930's and '40's in their desperate struggle to subdue anything literary hinting of nonsubservience to the Soviet state. It has been estimated, the Ukrainian scholar says, that some 10 million Ukrainians were executed by their oppressors in the 30's alone.

Like many others from his part of the world, Dr. Slavutych views what has happened in the Ukraine through the gray veil of personal loss.

In 1933 his father, a wealthy farmer and landowner, balked at the prospect of the collectivization program. Father and son, the latter then only 15, were arrested and loaded onto a train bound for a concentration camp in northern Russia, while his mother and sisters were sent away from their home with only what possessions they could carry in their hands.

On the journey his father fell ill, but when other prisoners on the speeding train managed to gouge a hole in the side of a train car, he urged his son to escape with them if he could. He did, and returned to his mother and sisters under an assumed name. He never saw his father again.

Slavutych was re-arrested at 20 for reading Ukrainian books forbidden by the Communist government, but after his release and still using the alias as his name, he graduated from the Pedagogic College of Zaporizhrya.

In 1942-43 he was commanding officer of a unit in the Ukrainian Insurgent Army, fighting both Nazis and Russians in northern Ukraine near Kiev. The aim of this army was a free and independent Ukraine as proclaimed on January 22, 1918. Dr. Slavutych reminds us: Hence the two-fold battle.

Personal tragedy caught up with him once more in 1943 when German soldiers set fire to all the houses of a northern Ukrainian village, burning in their homes the villagers too ill or elderly to flee. In one of these houses he had been forced to leave his young wife and little day-old daughter. A friend to whom he had entrusted their care was killed before he could get them away.

Dr. Slavutych's long and still unfinished search for news of the persecuted writers of his nation began toward the end of the war when he managed to get to the American zone of Germany and began asking after them in displaced persons camps. He continued searching year by year, putting in only names of Ukrainians of whose fate he was fairly certain.

In 1948, in one of the camps at which he was detained for a time, he happily met, and in good time married, a girl from his former neighborhood whom he had not seen since she was seven. Yar and Elwira Slavutych now have a son Bohdan, nearly 10, and a daughter Oksana, 1.

They came in 1949 to Philadelphia, where Dr. Slavutych taught Ukrainian part time in a high school and studied on a fellowship in the Department of Slavic and Baltic studies of the University of Pennsylvania Graduate School, where he received a Ph.D. degree in 1955 in Slavic studies.

That same year he came to the Monterey Peninsula, "which reminds me of the Crimean Peninsula with cypress, low hills and water all around."

Peninsulites know him for his lectures on Ukrainian letters and folk art and as an instructor in the Ukrainian Department of the Army Language School. It was there he met Manly, outstanding student of a Slavic language at the Presidio.

Dr. Slavutych's work seems to be far-reaching, his articles and reviews appearing in many American journals and quarterlies and some of his poetry being set to music by Ukrainian composers in the United States where it is used by Ukrainians and Americans of Ukrainian descent on national holidays and at concerts. His output is prolific, a situation made possible, he says, because his wife helps with the typing and checking.

In the words of a colleague who wrote a foreword to the poet's Oasis, "Thanks to the recent activity of Yar Slavutych, the American study of literature has expanded to embrace ukrainica, thus enlarging our horizons."

Carrying Whiskey James Jones Won His Election

and, also, because some of the American troops seemed to consider the señoritas as prizes of war.

The situation was so bad that when the federal government was slow in establishing a stable government for California, Governor Riley took the matter into his own hands and called for the election of delegates to meet on September 14, 1849, in Colton Hall to draw up a constitution and to apply for admission to the union as a state. Among the delegates chosen were such men, well-known in California, as Thomas O. Larkin, Mariano Guadalupe Vallejo, Pablo de la Guerra, Jose Antonio Carrillo, Captain Sutter, and Robert Semple who became chairman of the delegates. William E. P. Hartwell, married to a sister of de la Guerra, became interpreter. Eight of the delegates were native Californians, four were born abroad, and the rest were from "The States." Some of the latter had been in California but a very short time; James McHall Jones had arrived only nine days before the election, but on mule-back in a whirlwind campaign, travelling from mine to mine and carrying a few bottles of whiskey for treats he won the election. Most of the delegates were able experienced men.

On arriving at Monterey, they found the town almost deserted, for most of the able-bodied men had left for the gold mines; and accommodations were scanty as there were no hotels or restaurants. The Montereyans, however, with their usual hospitality took as many of the delegates as they could to their homes and entertained them generously. Some, however, and most of the visitors, had to camp out amongst the pines.

The convention lasted until October 13, and though at times the debate was bitter, a number of important problems were settled: the eastern boundary line was set at the Sierra rather than the Rocky Mountains; slavery was prohibited; and wives, on the death of their husbands, were given the right to half his property; an old Spanish and Mexican usage in California.

Near the close of the convention the delegates gave an elaborate ball in Colton Hall to help repay the Montereyans for their hospitality, taxing each other $25 to pay for it. The ball was gay and spirited, and at times hilarious, for the results of some of the delegates to dress in formal style with what clothes they could borrow were often ludicrous.

On the last day, after a brief morning session, the delegates gathered at 10 o'clock. The chairman arose and after relieving the tension by some facetious remarks, said in a slow, solemn, and impressive tone, "And, now, fellow delegates, you will affix your signatures to the Constitution of the State of California." As one by one the delegates signed that historical document, the flag was unfurled to the breeze on the flag-staff before Colton Hall; the Presidio guns roared. Then Captain Sutter arose. "Gentlemen," he said, "this is the happiest day of my life! This is a great day for California." As he sat down with tears streaming from his eyes, the delegates cheered lustily.

It was all over. One by one the delegates departed; San Jose became the capital of California; and the little town of Monterey sank into a peaceful dreamy existence, enlivened, however, by rodeos, fandangoes and meriendas on all possible occasions.

Ten years ago, the 100th anniversary of that convention was celebrated by a historic pageant presented on the campus of Monterey College and directed by Frank Lloyd and Dan Tothoroh. It consisted of 13 sections, the last of which reproduced the afternoon of the convention in Colton Hall. Among those taking part as delegates were J. William MacLennan (chairman), Arthur Plaxton, Bill Fortier, Salvadore Marquez, Dr. Louis Clay, Fred Workman, Col. James A. Brown, Ralph Serrano, Judge J. C. Sorensen, Dr. J. A. Johnson, and William Parks. Leo Carrillo represented his ancestor Jose Antonio Carrillo, one of the delegates, arriving as his ancestor had on horseback and leading a pack horse.

The constitutional convention of 1849 was an outstanding and dramatic event in the history of Monterey. It is to be hoped that in future years it will continue to be commemorated by some special program as the historic pageant of 10 years ago or the coming session of the Supreme Court of California in Colton Hall; since that constitutional convention was an event of importance not only to America but to the world, for it demonstrated how a free people in time of trouble can themselves organize a stable democratic government.

Matthew Glenday

Micah Matthew Glenday, honorary member of the Monterey Peninsula Builders Exchange, Inc. and a Carmel resident for 18 years, died on Monday in a local hospital after a short illness.

Mr. Glenday was born in Glasgow, Scotland, on October 24, 1883. He came to the United States as a youth, stayed for a brief time in New York, then came West and lived in Oakland before moving to Vancouver Island, British Columbia. He returned to the United States in 1939, settled in Carmel in 1941 and built a home at Portola and Guadalupe Streets.

When he was 13 years old Mr. Glenday was apprenticed as a carpenter. He was active in the building trades and labor organizations in Canada and on one occasion ran for parliament. On the Peninsula Mr. Glenday operated the Glenday Construction Company and was a general contractor until he retired in 1954.

In 1915 he married Miss Amanda Peterson in Long Island City, New York. Their forty-fourth wedding anniversary would have been yesterday.

Besides Mrs. Glenday, survivors are two daughters, Mrs. Lillian E. Parsons of Laguna Beach and Mrs. Jessie F. Kent of Garden Grove; two brothers, Frank Glenday living in England and Charles Glenday in Scotland; a sister, Mrs. Catherine Morris of Australia; a

Opening For Actors In Six Circle Plays Parts For 45-60 Age

A call for an extraordinary number and variety of actors has gone out this week from the Golden Bough Circle Theater. Qualified men are being sought to play major roles in six plays which the Circle hopes to produce between now and next June. A tentative list of titles to be included in the theater's second subscription season includes Look Back in Anger, The Potting Shed, Middle of the Night, A Month in the Country and the Lion and The Circle, each play a classic in its genre.

Whether or not the plays will be undertaken depends upon the number of actors available for principal roles. Frederick Rider, who will direct all of the shows himself, is especially interested in seeing men between 40 and 65 who are able to devote evening hours to rehearsal. A number of younger men, from 18 up, are also needed.

Actors who wish to be considered for any of the plays are urged to contact Rider by phone at MA 4-2267 as soon as possible. No general readings will be held until applicants have been interviewed individually.

Post Office Clerk Admits Removing Stamps From Mail

A Carmel post office clerk resigned Tuesday after admitting that he had allegedly removed $1 stamps from incoming parcels, attached them to outgoing mail, then cancelled the used stamps so heavily that traces of previous cancellation were obliterated. Up to $20 worth of stamps were removed according to the clerk, Arthur C. Knowles, 46.

San Francisco postal authorities say Knowles said he removed the stamps over the past two months to offset possible shortages through error in the money accumulated in his stamp till. He is not under arrest. Postal authorities have sent a report to the San Francisco federal district attorney's office for further action, if any.

Knowles had been in the postal service for 23 years. He was transferred here from Gardena four years ago. Conviction on a charge of removing stamps, for a postal employee, can result in a prison term of up to three years or a $500 fine.

granddaughter, Mrs. Doris M. Loge of Seaside; and five great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea.

Friends wishing to honor the memory of Mr. Glenday are asked to do so in the form of donations to their favorite charities.

Oracle Of Delphi Makes Good On One Of Bishop's Requests

William Bishop is home in Carmel after a six-months trip around the world. He revisited Australia which he left 35 years ago to come to the United States, and his native village, Arachova, on the slopes of Mount Parnassus in Greece, which he had not seen for 51 years. He also saw his son, William, in Australia, and searched for the grave of his son Dudley, Australian flyer lost in World War II, on the island of Crete.

Mr. Bishop stopped in Hawaii, the South Sea Islands and New Zealand on his way to Australia. He found tremendous population growth after 35 years in Sydney and Brisbane where his son lives.

On his voyage from Australia to Greece he saw Scottish troops marching to bagpipe music in Aden, visited Ceylon, disembarked in Port Said and left Egypt from Alexandria.

He arrived in Athens then travelled to Arachova in time to be with relatives for the Greek Orthodox Church Easter. He had already celebrated our Easter in Australia.

Arachova is a village known for its weavers. Snow crowned nearby Mount Parnassus even in May. Mr. Bishop's two nephews operate the only gas station in the village which is visited by many tourists. "When I left 51 years ago," says Mr. Bishop, "people used mules." While in his native village Mr. Bishop consulted the oracle at Delphi. "One request has been fulfilled," he observes, laughing. Cirigo in Southern Greece where he went to high school for three years was also revisited before Mr. Bishop continued his trip to Sparta, Corinth, Athens and then Crete.

On this island he searched burial grounds but was unable to find his son's grave. However, before departing for Italy, he talked to embassy officials in Athens and satisfied himself that his son Dudley must have been shot down in a flight over Crete and is buried there.

Syracuse in Sicily and Naples were visited by Mr. Bishop, also Pompeii with Mount Vesuvius as background. He took the Amalfi Drive along the coast, spent three days in Rome, travelled to Milan, Florence and Venice before going to Paris.

Here he met Americans from Florida who asked him to drive with them to Germany. By car Mr. Bishop went through France and Germany. He saw the castles on the Rhine, Cologne Cathedral, the Mercedes automobile factory, Heidelberg "and lots of students" and Bonn, before arriving by train in Holland. He visited a Dutch cheese farm, saw fields of bulbs and dikes on his way to the North Sea.

Sailing from Rotterdam, Mr. Bishop landed in Hoboken, went to New York then spent a week on Cape Cod before coming home through Canada. He stayed in Quebec, Montreal and Banff in the Canadian Rockies. Here snow fell making the mountains and lakes even more beautiful. "I don't mind missing Switzerland," Mr. Bishop remarks, "the Rockies are magnificent."

Vancouver and Victoria in British Columbia he enjoyed, then crossed to Seattle and home to Carmel.

"And now I'm settling down before planning another trip," he ends.

Thomas Silvear

Thomas E. Silvear died on Friday at his home in San Jose Creek Canyon following many years of ill health.

Mr. Silvear was born in Benton County, Oregon, on April 9, 1880. Fifty-two years ago he married the former Emma Toof in Santa Cruz.

He is survived by Mrs. Silvear; also a son, T. E. Silvear of San Jose Creek Canyon; a daughter, Mrs. Verna Thage of Marina; two brothers, Roy Silvear of Sacramento and R. C. Silvear of Aptos; a sister, Mrs. Mae Arington of Escalon; three grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held on Monday afternoon in the Dorney and Farlinger Memorial Chapel with the Reverend Richard Huser officiating. Burial was in Mission Memorial Park.

Mankind Is Finding Peace And Security Says C. S. Lecturer

Mankind's age-long search for peace and security is meeting with success, J. Hamilton Lewis of Concord, N. H., said here Tuesday evening.

"People all over the world are demonstrating in their daily lives that a spiritual understanding of God and of man as His perfect reflection is bringing them a peace and security never before experienced," he declared.

A member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship, he came to Carmel in the course of an extended speaking tour, upon invitation of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Carmel, California. He spoke in The Church Edifice, Monte Verde and Sixth Avenue on the subject "How Christian Science Brings Security and Peace."

Hate, prejudice, and resentment hold the world in bondage, but will yield to spiritual enlightenment, the lecturer said.

"Only as these beliefs are destroyed," he declared, "and harmony experienced individually, can peace and security be established in the world."

Mr. Lewis noted that for many millions of people the Bible has been the most important book ever written.

The Bible, he said, "points the way to the salvation which includes freedom from all that encumbers human experience, and conveys to its readers the spiritual comfort and assurance of good for which humanity longs."

Christ Jesus showed how mankind can establish and maintain peace and security, he pointed out.

"Jesus," he said, "healed the sick, reformed the sinner, raised the dead, stilled the tempest. He showed the way to the healing of the political and social ills of society, he fed the multitudes, cured racial problems, healed prejudice and hate, solved economic problems."

He was able, he added, to overcome material law through the application of spiritual law, based on spiritual understanding of God.

Letters To The Editor . . .

P. O. Box 3314,
Carmel, Calif.

The Pine Cone,
Carmel.
Dear Editor:

Regarding the destruction of the Carmel Theater, I heartily agree with Alice Ellis. Some time ago I wrote a letter to the Pine Cone about what I thought was the useless waste in pulling down the theater. We Carmelites loved our movie house, and it served us well; moreover we need at least two movie theaters in Carmel.

When Alice Ellis says "We may soon have the distinction of a small town where getting drunk is the only amusement." I'm inclined to think she may be right. I think the amateur shows are of interest to many people in Carmel, but I agree that they are more expensive than a movie, but many of us are most grateful to these amateur actors, and feel they are doing a wonderful job. Without them we should now be

How very right Alice Ellis is when she says if the Golden Bough is going to be taken over by the youngsters and teenagers, adults will not be able to attend. It is a very small theater and if some of the noisy and badly behaved young folk are going to find their only movie center there, then that theater will be of little use to the adult section of Carmel.

Indeed we have more than enough shops in Carmel, and as for motels, well we seem to have a plague of them, yet I hear we may have more of both instead of our Carmel Theater. I still wonder why a large auditorium could not have been built on that vacant plot where the wonderful talent that exists in Carmel could have put on plays, shows and dances, and where movies could also have been shown.

Poor mothers, I condole with you all in the loss of your valuable ('baby-sitter'), the Carmel Theater. I too join my voice in saying a big thank you to the theater management, and a sad farewell. Thus our cherished landmarks pass away, one by one, until some day we wake up and find they have all disappeared.

Sincerely yours,
—Catherine Eastwood.

P. O. Box 2012
Carmel, California
August 7, 1959

Dear Mrs. Cook:

I agree with Alice Ellis' recent letter to the extent that we owe the Carmel Theater management many thanks for many years of entertainment; but, under our capitalistic system, a business must earn a profit or cease to exist. That I. Magnin is coming to town had nothing to do with the razing of this building.

The fact is that Carmel did not support the Carmel Theater. Many times, I have been there when there were not enough paid admissions to have paid for the lights—even to see South Pacific.

I do not for one moment believe that the Golden Bough will be taken over by youngsters and teenagers with the result that adults will not be able to attend; nor with her allegation that we may soon have the distinction of being a small town where the only amusement is to get drunk.

For myself, I have always been devoted to the legitimate theater and in the seven years I have lived in Carmel, I have had the pleasure of seeing many excellent productions; better than many in a larger city in larger theaters. Wonderful casts, truly professional direction, clean, new, attractive costumes and, above all, very fine and sincere acting by dedicated artists.

As to the audiences—look around any night. Every one of our little theaters is packed with non-drinking tourists and steady theatergoers like myself.

Sincerely,
—Patricia Hall.

Raoul Peizer Avoids Cliches In White Oaks Theatre Production Of Axelrod's "Seven Year Itch"

By BOB KALLER

The Seven Year Itch, a favorite of summer show houses was presented by the White Oaks Theater in Carmel Valley this past weekend—and to no one's surprise turned out to be a sparkling, champagne-and-bubbles type of show that left the audience feeling debonair and frisky.

One of George Axelrod's romantic comedies, the Itch was a hit show on Broadway and later a successful motion picture, so that a whole series of stereotypes in treatment had already grown up about it. Fortunately Raoul Peizer, the gifted young director who has evoked so much fire and spirit from the young stock company at the White Oaks, chose to ignore the cliches of production and experiment boldly. He pruned the script, introduced real characters as the voices of conscience instead of merely invisible speakers, and generally heightened the pace. The result is a show that moves continually, to the delight of the spectator.

Leading role of Richard Sherman, the middling-aged book editor left alone for vacation by his wife after seven years of marriage, is given a rousing, puckish performance by Harry Grilley that is in the best tradition of Tom Ewell. Imaginative and plodding, daring and timid, gay and brooding all in turn, Grilley imbues his role with all the paradoxes and wry humor that go into a flesh and blood human being.

Neva Aki, who did such a superb job in Laite Song, plays the role of the Girl Upstairs and turns out to be a talented comedienne. Possessed of a fine sense of timing, a natural gaiety, and a superb pair of legs, Miss Aki presents an irresistible picture that makes Sherman's involvement with her an easy matter to understand.

Cliff Rivers as Dr. Brubaker, an eccentric psychiatrist and author who definitely has all his marbles, turns in by far the standout supporting performance. A skillful job of body performance establishes a convincing portrait of a vigorous but aging advisor, and Rivers mouths his lines with such a nice combination of relish and understanding, that the audience is literally carried along on a tide of good feeling.

Harriet Fogerson as Miss Morris, Judy Miller as Elaine, Angene Feves as Marie all turn in creditable performances as potential girl friends of the day-dreaming Sherman; while Julie Stewart, Mary Sue Tatum, Peter Thomsen, and Dick Bird are both entertaining in a series of character parts.

Special mention is due Alan Berman who, as Richard's Conscience, displays an insouciance that is both suitable and charming. Frank McNaughton as Tom MacKenzie is dramatic and bold in a portrayal of a dream-world matinee-idol type writer, but yields some forcefulness in later scenes in reaching for humorous effect.

Shirley Wilson as Helen Sherman, the leading character's wife, has an unsympathetic role to cope with at best, and makes a valiant attempt to come to grips with it, but retains too studied an approach to permit sufficient exploration of the casual, impish facet she exhibits in flashes.

Costumes are by Gale Peterson and light and set design by Wayne Cain. Both are done with intelligence and taste.

For a gay evening of humor and sophisticated dialogue, the White Oak Theater production of The Seven Year Itch can be recommended wholeheartedly and happily.

Knights of Columbus Pilgrimage Aug. 30 To Carmel Mission

Fourth Degree Color Guards of 16 assemblies of the Knights of Columbus will head a pilgrimage of several thousand members of the Third Order of Saint Francis from the San Francisco Bay region to the grave of Fra Junipero Serra in Carmel Mission on August 30.

The pilgrimage will mark the one hundred and seventy-fifth anniversary of Father Serra's death, the one hundred and ninetieth of his arrival in California and the two hundred and tenth of his departure from Spain for the mission field in America.

Father Noel F. Moholy, O.F.M., S.T.D., vice postulator at Santa Barbara Mission for the promotion of the Cause for Canonization of Fra Serra will direct the pilgrimage.

Father Brendan Mitchell, O.F.M., of St. Boniface Church in San Francisco will marshal the Third Order of St. Francis' forces. Dr. Joaquin C. Lopes will head the Color Guards. He is master of the Northern California district Knights of Columbus.

The Serra Day program will begin at 1:45 o'clock in the afternoon with celebration of a solemn open air low Pontifical Mass in the quadrangle at Carmel Mission. Father Moholy will preach on the life of the founder of the California Missions.

Following the Mass, the Knights of Columbus, in full regalia, will head a solemn procession to the grave of Father Serra in the Mission. The pilgrims will follow reciting the Rosary for his canonization.

PERENNIAL YOUTH

*I wonder how it were, in very truth,
To live beyond the allotted length of hours
In a perennality of youth,
Always at peak of vibrant, blooming powers.
Would one feel like a god, controlling time,
Watching the rise and wane of world on world,
Remaining at an undiminished prime
While other lives were briefly spent and furled?*

*Or might he come to sense, as years moved on,
A staleness creeping through reiterant ways,
And, dawn succeeding flaming-pillared dawn,
The weight on one man of too many days;
Or, once part of a vivid pageant, find
That its progression had left him behind?*

—LORI PETRI

MOONCLOUDS

*Alone at night
her feet trace
through the grass
overgrowing
where branches block
the trail.*

*The moonclouds twist
like black cotton
spider netting intangibly frail.*

*Who was wrong?
how the question
aches like song unforgotten.*

*The moonclouds spin
across the face against the yellow passing long
spider lace.*

—ROBERT L. PETERS

CHANNEL BUOY

*Off the fishing banks beyond the reef,
Where many a boat has met its doom,
The mists of evening hang thick and deep;
The ground-swell echoes a threatening boom;
But the warning buoy marks by sound the way
For a weary sailor at end of day.*

*Fog muffles its voice to a dreary drone;
But a seaman's ears are keen to hear;
And steering his course by its mournful moan,
Chugs cheerily on toward the home-port pier.*

—GRACE R. BALLARD

LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

Ruth Galvin Thornburg, Librarian Pete Stuyvesant, the gent with the wooden leg, took over the director-generalship of New Netherland in May of 1647. From that day on he was in conflict with the times, the people, and the facts of life in oldest New York. Henry Kessler and Eugene Rachlis have told the story of Peter Stuyvesant in their book and told also of life in those roaring days. The title of the book is Peter Stuyvesant and His New York. End papers of the book are prints of an interesting old map of the city.

These may be fighting words but we do have a new book on Tree Maintenance. This is the title, and it was written by P. P. Pirone who is a nationally known tree scientist. And it does mention Monterey trees, but not ips, so far as we could find. It may be that we just don't know the scientific name for ips. May be? Anyway, borrow the book and check your trees against its information. The tree you save may be your own.

Paul Tabori believes that the greatest enemy of mankind is man's own stupidity. His new book The Natural Science of Stupidity is witty and full of rewards for the reader. It has an introduction by Richard Armour, an admirable choice for the job at hand.

It is to be hoped that the present emphasis on engineering and science will not result in a nation flooded in those two fields with graduates whose natural talents would be better channeled into other directions. But we have a book to help the young person who is thinking of going into engineering and its title is Careers and Opportunities in Engineering. It is called a comprehensive account of this vital and expanding profession.

Anybody who enjoys a Walt Disney cartoon, and surely that's just everybody, will also enjoy a book about him and his work. It was written by Bob Thomas and he called it Walt Disney: the Art of Animation. This is a big book full of illustrations in beautiful Disney colors and telling the whole story of what makes a Disney animated cartoon such a pleasure.

One bad thing about books full of house plans is the fact that the cost estimates are so low the reader must get a very erroneous impression. We have two new books of house plans, the brief kind, and each has cost estimates. Double the estimates and actual figures will not disappoint you so much. One book is called House Beautiful's Building Manual and the other is 120 Houses and Plans for 1958. Books like these can give you a lot of good ideas before you call in your architect. With help like this you've no need to be ignorant of the new wrinkles in home planning.

X-RAY UNIT HERE MONDAY

D. D. Muir, your Telephone Manager in Carmel

Deep on the ocean floor, underseas telephone cables carry calls from this country to Alaska, Hawaii and Europe. A cable ship like the one above put them there — to stay. Just imagine the problems involved if anything should go wrong with one of these cables — sending out a repair ship, locating the trouble spot, fishing up the cable. It could cost as much as $250,000! So telephone engineers had to design all the tubes and tiny electronic parts that go into an underseas cable to work continuously for at least 20 years without attention. That's the kind of telephone know-how, backed by constant research, that makes your service more dependable ... whether you call across town or across the world.

Meet Jeanné Layden shown here with Barbara Keeley her instructor. Jeanné is from Montreal, Canada, where she worked for the Telephone Company three years ago. Jeanné was talked into coming to Monterey by another Telephone Company employee from Montreal.

New Home, Practice And Baby

A birth announcement, in the form of a new patient admittance card, tells that Dr. and Mrs. William E. Junkert Jr. (Joy Westcott) and their four-year-old daughter, Beverly Anne, were joined on July 19 by Stanley William Junkert. The new member of the family weighed six pounds, one ounce when he was born in the Community Hospital in Riverside.

Dr. Junkert, on July 1, opened his own office for the practice of medicine in Riverside, following Army service and hospital residency. He is now on the staff of two hospitals in Southern California. ## Marques Reitzel Wins Award

Dr. Marques E. Reitzel, who lives at his Art Ranch in Pescadero, today was given a special commission as California artist-in-residence by Winsor and Newton, arts supply firm which was established in London 127 years ago. The appointment was announced by Schwabacher-Frey Company, California representative of the firm.

Mr. Reitzel will travel about the state painting historic and scenic spots and conferring with art groups and classes. He was head of the art department at San Jose State College until three years ago. Before coming west, Marques Reitzel held the same position at Rockford College in Illinois. He began gaining national recognition in the 1920s when his work first won prizes and awards. A number of his paintings are included in permanent museum collections.

Father Fine, Twins Too!

Lieutenant Charles Nuss, aboard the USS Hornet in Asiatic waters, cabled the message, "Father doing fine," to Mrs. Nuss when he received word of the birth of their twin sons, Michael Thomas and Christopher Martin. The boys were born at the Peninsula Community Hospital on August 1, their sister Barbara Anne's second birthday. Michael weighed six pounds, six ounces. Christopher's birth weight was six pounds, 12 ounces.

The Carmel chapter of the American Red Cross got the news of the twins' birth to their father in two days' time. His cable of assurance to Mrs. Nuss was in answer to the Red Cross message.

Mrs. Alvin H. Nuss of Aptos is in Carmel with her daughter-in-law and the children. She says that Michael and Christopher are the first twins to be born in the Nuss family for 105 years.

Lieutenant and Mrs. Nuss came to Carmel three years ago. In June they moved into their second Mission Fields home.

"I had the same hospital room as I did when Barbara was born," reports Mrs. Nuss, who is looking forward to October when the Hornet will return to the United States and Lieutenant Nuss will come to Carmel to see the twins for the first time.

Rotary Hears Putnam Sea Saga

Frank Putnam told Rotary Club members yesterday, at their La Playa Hotel luncheon, about his trip to Mexican waters in an open boat.

Accompanied by Arnold Meiners, Mr. Putnam left Moss Landing on July 10 in his 22 foot Jeffries motor boat. Aboard was an 80 gallon supply of gasoline so no meals were cooked. They ate cold food while at sea. However, they moored in a port almost every night, went ashore for dinner and sometimes breakfast, but slept on the boat.

The start from Moss Landing was at 4:10 o'clock in the morning. Next port was Morro Bay, then a night anchored offshore before refueling in Santa Barbara. Catalina Island was the next stopping place, then Newport Beach. After fishing off the Los Coronados Islands below the border the trip ended in San Diego.

Fishing was remarkable with albacore, yellow tail, bonita and barracuda jumping at the lines. Marlin didn't strike, though. No fish were taken out of the water. After hooking and playing the fish and bringing them close to the boat, Frank Putnam and Arnold Meiners cut their lines and let the fish go.

"We had no refrigeration, no friends, no stove," says Mr. Putnam. "We didn't kill a single fish."

In San Diego Mrs. Putnam and Mrs. Meiners met the fishermen and with their families they drove home to Carmel stopping at Disneyland and Marineland.

"We're going back in September to get the boat," Mr. Putnam announces.

CARMEL MEADOWS LOT—$6,500

WHERE around here can you get a lot with a protected Valley view for $6,500, much less one that offers all utilities underground in an area of expensive homes? We have an exclusive listing on such a lot right now. It's 80' wide and over 100' deep. Some terms may be available.

SOUTH OF OCEAN — 3 BEDROOMS, 2 BATHS — ALMOST NEW
IN FACT, it's better than new, because it has fine wall-to-wall carpeting over foam rubber padding, the drapes and curtains are all in, and the landscaping is exceptionally fine. The house is located near the River School, and about 4 blocks to the beach. It has a very large living room, with quite a good view of the hills and lagoon. Our exclusive at $31,500. $6,500 down will handle.

LARGE LOT ON SAN ANTONIO WITH OCEAN VIEW (& HOUSE)
THIS BUILDING SITE South of Ocean in the City limits has over 11,000 square feet with 80' frontage on San Antonio. It has an ocean view. The value is in the land, and the land is really worth the selling price of $32,500. However, for what it's worth (and it is usable) there's a 2 bedroom, 2 bath house on the land, too. Wouldn't take much to tear it down, if you want to build now otherwise, rent it, or use it for weekends and vacations. Vacant and we have the key.

Section 1229.01. For the purpose of this section, the word "sidewalk" is hereby declared to include that portion of any street between the property line and any gutter line, or in the absence of such gutter line, a point eight (8) feet from the property line, providing such area is graded or surfaced in whole or in part.

requests for 59 other books not yet filled. For special projects we have borrowed 78 books from the Monterey County Library. Another 28 books we requested were not obtainable from either the State or County libraries. We loaned 26 books to other libraries.

REFERENCE SERVICE

Approximately 5,019 reference questions were answered during the past year. We believe that this figure is actually low, because in the rush of work library attendants frequently omit jotting down the record of a question answered.

WORK WITH CHILDREN AND YOUNG PEOPLE

This phase of the work in Carmel is increasing very fast. Many of the teachers in the three schools below the high school level have brought their classes regularly to the library. We have tried to schedule these visits so that they will arrive before the library opens to the public in the morning. As more and more teachers decide to avail themselves of this privilege, we are finding it difficult to stretch schedules to get them in before 10:30 o'clock in the morning. When classes come the Children's Librarian talks to the children about library practices and explains reference books, thus helping the children to help themselves and to be more at home in all libraries. Last year 176 classes came to the library and the Children's Librarian visited 35 classrooms. 15 story hours were conducted and she also made 3 talks to PTA groups on the subject of books for children.

SUMMER READING CLUB

This year the idea for the summer reading club for children is based upon the possible design of our flag after the admission of the 50th state, Hawaii. Upon enrollment in the club the child is given a flag which has no stars in the blue field. For each book read the child receives a silver paper star which he pastes in the blue field, the idea being that he is designing a flag. Prizes for the most artistically designed flag will be given at the end of the summer at the party for all club members which is always held.

MAJOR IMPROVEMENTS

The most important improvement in the library during the past year was the installation of a new circulation desk. This desk was made in sections by a local craftsman and patterned after desks made by commercial dealers in library furnishings. An integral part of the desk is a book truck with a depressible base which is used to hold returned books until they can be discharged. The old desk is now in the children's room and serves that department very well. Having a desk in the juvenile department has meant the separation of the juvenile registration cards and procedures and this has reduced activity at the adult desk and also has aided in reducing noise in the library.

To reduce the possibility of accidents on the stairs, carpeting was installed. This type of carpeting is a special thing for stairways, being made of nylon over sponge rubber. It has not only stopped accidents but has reduced noise on the stairs to a degree noticeable to everyone. Many of the Carmel people are older and have a tendency to walk heavily, and a library on five levels gave ample opportunity for heavy climbing and descending of stairs.

GIFTS

Several valuable gifts have been given to the library. An anonymous donor presented the library with almost four thousand dollars worth of photographic prints done by the late Edward Weston. Another valuable gift partially received is a planned one thousand dollars worth of reference books to be given by Mrs. Lee Olds Kellogg in memory of her late husband. The money is being presented over a period of several months, and is being spent for books as it comes in.

A bequest to the library of the property of the late Mrs. Frances Adney is now in process in the courts of this county. This property consists of a house and two lots on San Antonio Street in Carmel.

THE COLLECTION

This library now has a non-fiction collection of 22,262 books. There are 11,416 novels in the fiction collection, and 5,783 juveniles. The Monterey County Library has on permanent deposit at our library 8,762 books of which 1,656 are new titles cataloged this past year. This makes a total of 48,223 books available to Carmel people. The County Library also houses a movie projector in our library which is available to groups in any place in the county which pays the library tax. This projector is used in conjunction with the Canadian films which this library has.

San Carlos Ranch Fire Controlled 160 Acres Burnt

Still being patrolled today is the fire on San Carlos Ranch in Lower Carmel Valley which started on Tuesday morning. It was brought under control at 6:00 o'clock last evening.

According to the California Division of Forestry's Carmel Hill Fire Patrol Station this morning, 160 acres of grass, brush and oaks, were burned in the Mesa section of the ranch.

The fire was spotted from the Sid Ormsbee Lookout at 11:45 o'clock on Tuesday morning. Clouds of billowing smoke were clearly visible from Carmel. The fire spread, fanned by hot winds during the afternoon. One hundred and ten men with four bulldozers and eight fire trucks fought the blaze until it was controlled.

State Division of Forestry officials are investigating the cause of the fire.

Mrs. Pierce Named Chest Drive Head For Pebble Beach

Mrs. Charles H. Pierce of Pebble Beach will serve as chairman of the Pebble Beach and Del Monte Forest areas for the 1960 Community Chest Fund Drive. The announcement was made today by Robert McKeever, Jr., general chairman of the fund campaign. Mrs. Pierce will be assisted by Mrs. Hampton S. Stewart, Jr., vice president of the Monterey Peninsula Community Chest and a committee to be announced within the next week. The Pebble Beach quota for the 1960 campaign has been set at $31,850, which is 16.9 per cent of the total quota.

Wermuth's Repeater Is Found Guilty Of Grand Theft

ognized him as the person whom he'd arrested for theft of $1,000 worth of watches from the House That Jack Built one April morning four years ago. Lawrence had been convicted and served four years in San Quentin. After just two months of freedom, Lawrence was back, and up to no good Sergeant Wermuth assumed and soon verified his educated guess. Lawrence had in his possession two sweaters he had appropriated from the Howard Brunn shop.

The jury was out from 3:30 o'clock until 9:30 o'clock with an hour off for dinner.

Joseph Gall Charged With Arson In Fire At Casanova St. Home

Joseph Gall, 33, was arraigned in Monterey Municipal Court on Tuesday to answer to a charge of arson. His home on Casanova Street was gutted by fire on Tuesday of last week. Judge Baugh fixed bail at $2,000 and set a preliminary hearing for 3:00 o'clock tomorrow afternoon to determine if there is sufficient evidence to bind the defendant over to Superior Court.

Gall, represented by Attorney John N. Shephard, denied setting the fire.

The case is under investigation by Fire Chief Robert Smith and representatives of the National Board of Fire Underwriters. Deputy District Attorney William C. Marsh said, "We are convinced that the fire was deliberately set."

SANITARY DISTRICT TAKES EIGHT CENT BITE

The Carmel Sanitary District set a tax rate of 34 cents per $100 assessed valuation for 1959-60, at a regular meeting Monday night. This is an increase of 8 cents, and 11.5 cents of the 34 cents will be used for improving the disposal plant.

The Pine Cone deprecates paying for capital improvements out of direct property tax instead of through bond issue. The latter, spreads the cost over a long period of time so that future residents bear their fair share.
